What Are Cookies?

Cookies are small text files placed on your device when you visit a website. They help ensure the website functions properly, improve your experience, and provide information that helps us understand how the site is used.

What Cookies We Use

Our website is hosted on Wix and uses cookies and similar technologies to support website functionality and improve the visitor experience.

Depending on the website's configuration and enabled services, these may include:

- Essential cookies: Necessary for website functionality, security and operation.
- Analytics cookies: Help us understand how visitors interact with our website and identify opportunities for improvement.
- Functionality cookies: Support additional website features and remember visitor preferences.
- Marketing cookies: May be used where advertising or marketing technologies are enabled.

The cookies and tracking technologies used are subject to the website's configuration and applicable consent requirements.

Managing Cookies

Confi Consultancy Ltd uses Usercentrics consent management technology to provide visitors with control over non-essential cookies.

Visitors can accept or reject non-essential cookies, review cookie categories and manage their preferences through the website's cookie consent banner.

Consent can be withdrawn or preferences changed at any time through the website's privacy settings, once available.

Visitors can also manage or block cookies through their browser settings. Restricting certain cookies may affect website functionality.

Updates to This Policy

We may update this Cookie Policy to reflect changes to website functionality, cookies, third-party services or applicable legislation.

The effective date will be updated whenever material changes are made.
